IT WORKS GREAT

Gobble, Gobble
Happy
Thanksgiving

I told readers last month that Jonathan had designed and we were installing a system for remote viewing as well as command and control of all of our COACB stations. Well it works much better than I had ever hoped. At each location there is a TV tuner and streaming encoder. A small 6" antenna is connected to the tuner so we are actually viewing what is being broadcast. We purposely make the antenna inefficient so that if the transmitter goes below the minimum power level, we get the message LOW SIGNAL when we log on to the streaming encoder.

Using just a smart phone, we can check on our stations from anywhere in the world. Imagine checking on or watching any of our stations from 35,000 feet flying over the Atlantic. The command and control functions are available right there on that same phone. Remote control for the TV tuner is also active so we can switch between all of our streams or even watch other stations in the area with this system.

VOLUNTEERS NEEDED!!!

America has always been a country of volunteers. Volunteers made up armies such as the 142nd Pennsylvania Volunteers Infantry or the Ohio Volunteer Infantry. People also volunteer to fight fires including forest fires. In fact the first fire department in every community was made up entirely of volunteers. People have also volunteered for Emergency Squads, Police Departments, Schools, Community Projects, and Christian work.

Up until 1989, the entire operation of the COACB including the operation of its then two TV stations were done by an entirely volunteer staff. Even today the COACB operations including its four TV stations are handled by an extremely small paid staff and almost 200 volunteers.

Do you want to volunteer for the COACB? We have a place for you! Call Jonathan Aiken today at (740) 383-1794!!

COACB Stations are viewable almost anywhere in the world by simply using a computer, Ipad, Android Tablet, Kindle, or Smart Phone. Go to www.coacb.org and choose WATCH US NOW.
